

4th March 2024

Dear parent/carer(s),

Year 11 Engineering

As our Y11 Engineering students approach their final few months studying Engineering Design at Whitcliffe Mount I would like to share some upcoming key dates for coursework completion and for the final written exam.

Lessons from this point until the end of this half term will focus on the completion of R040 - Design Evaluation and Modelling (known informally as 'practical coursework'). This is worth 30% of the qualification.

To allow us to support students who need to complete R040 Achieve sessions up to Easter will be focused on completion of any missed or incomplete coursework and will be by invitation only.

Key Date: Friday 22nd March; R040 practical coursework due in.

EASTER CATCHUP/REVISION – sessions to support students with preparing for the completion of the course are likely to be available during Easter holidays; on Thursday 28th March. Please note this is provisional date and once confirmed I will share further details with you.

Lessons from Monday 8th March until the final written exam are focused on the completion of R038 - Principles of Engineering Design (known informally as 'exam preparation'). This is worth 40% of the qualification. Achieve sessions after Easter will be focused on revision techniques and strategies and all students are welcome to attend.

Following assessment of coursework (including outstanding feedback from R039 - Communicating Designs (known informally as 'design coursework') students will have the opportunity to improve work until Friday 3rd May however this will be in students own time or Achieve sessions.

If you have any questions, or concerns, please contact me via email; Daniel.goodsell@sharemat.co.uk

Thank you in advance of your support moving forward.

Many thanks
